UNIT 1: DANCING DRAGONS

Rationale:

This learning sequence encourages students to enhance their understanding of the historical, cultural, and social significance of selected artefacts that are on exhibit in the Museum of Chinese Australian History. The museum artefacts are examined for their significance, both in ancient times and how they relate in a contemporary Australian context. Examining the relationship between the past and present provides students with an understanding of continuity and change as seen through personal and community contributions to civic life.

Objectives:

Have students engage with the interactive Multicultural Snapshots Toolkit: The Summit Induction page (<https://mmv.org.au/multicultural-snapshots-summit-induction/>) and Multicultural Snapshots Summit page (<https://mmv.org.au/multicultural-snapshots-summit/>). Here, students can source information provided by multicultural representatives from each of the five museums about selected cultural artefacts and their significance, past and present. Listen to the Museum of Chinese Australian History multicultural representative Isabel Zhang share how Chinese history, customs, and enterprises have helped shape Australia’s identity in the world.

Teaching and Learning cycle		Student activity
Engagement	Invite students to work in pairs to complete the ‘I See, I Think, I Wonder’ worksheet with the two pictures. Once students complete all sections, have each pair share their responses with another pair, and then with the class. Please see worksheets attached below. As a class, revisit the two pictures, and collate feedback from the students about their responses to the questions for this activity, e.g., Picture 1: Describe what you see. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is noticeable about the shape, colour, texture, and special features of the artefact? • What material/s were used for the artefact’s construction? • What decorations appear on the artefact? Explain what you think. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What do you think the object is? • How was the artefact made? • When was it made? • What is it used for? • Who made it? 	Visible Thinking Strategies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • I See, I Think, I Wonder • WebQuest

	Clarify what you wonder. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is the significance of this artifact? • How is this artefact related to the next? • Where would I find this artefact today? Picture 2: Describe what you see. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Who are the people and the object in this picture? Explain what you think: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is the relationship between the people and the object? Clarify what you wonder: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How does the artefact represent Chinese culture? • Why is the artefact important, both of the past and present? Establish that the images in this activity are related to the Chinese Processional Dragon Head and Lion Dance. Emphasise that the 'dragon' is a significant symbol of Chinese culture. Question the class about their prior knowledge of Chinese New Year, the dragon procession, and the Lion dance. Have students engage with the interactive Multicultural Snapshots Toolkit (https://mmv.org.au/teachers-toolkit/) to find Isabel Zhang's contribution to the Multicultural Snapshots Summit_ (https://mmv.org.au/multicultural-snapshots-summit/), and listen to her describe the significance of the Dragon within Chinese traditions and customs. Working in pairs, instruct students to complete the WebQuest investigation about the symbolism of the dragon and the lion in Chinese culture.
Building knowledge	As a class, view the YouTube clip, and then discuss how Chinese culture and traditions influence their lives today. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • HASSCHATS CHINESE MIGRATION: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wFeMBMqE8M8 Question students about their prior knowledge of the arrival of Chinese migrants in Australia. Divide the class into four (4) groups. Each group is responsible for developing part of the timeline outlining Chinese-Australian history: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Group 1: (prior) 1848 – 1889 • Group 2: 1890 – 1929 • Group 3: 1930 – 1969 • Group 4: 1970 – current 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Timeline template

	The timeline should include: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Major events occurring that involve Chinese-Australians during each period. 2. Noted Chinese-Australians of each period and their narrative/story. 3. A picture from the time period that illustrated the life of Chinese-Australians. 4. An object/artefact that is representative of Chinese culture in Australia from each period. The following websites could assist students to gather reliable information from primary and secondary sources and introduce students to the stories of Chinese migrants. Further resource references can be found in this unit's Reference Directory. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Immigration Museum, May and Sydney Louey Gung: .https://museums victoria.com.au/immigrationmuseum/resources/immigrant-stories/may-and-sydney-louey-gung/ • Creative Victoria, Chinese Australian Families: https://cv.vic.gov.au/stories/immigrants-and-emigrants/chinese-australian-families/ • Creative Victoria, Cantonese-English phrase Book: https://cv.vic.gov.au/stories/immigrants-and-emigrants/language-a-key-to-survival-cantonese-english-phrasebooks-in-australia/arrival-of-chinese-immigrants-to-little-bourke-st-melbourne-c1866/ As a class, join each group's timeline into one, and invite each group to share their findings with the class. Display the completed timeline. Invite a member of the Chinese-Australian community to visit the class and speak about their community and how their enterprise contributes to the Australian identity.
Transformation	Pose the question: How is the Chinese dragon a symbol of cultural practices and traditions for Chinese-Australians? Visit the Snapshots website to locate the interview with Isabel Zhang. Listen to her speak about the significance of The Millennium Dragon. She states that, "...The Millennium dragon highlights the importance of the Chinese diaspora in retraining important cultural traditions, so they are preserved and not lost." As a class, discuss the term 'diaspora' and its meaning: a group of people who live outside the area in which they had lived for a long time or in which their ancestors lived. Have students consider the effects of migrating: One perspective is those who leave their country of origin by choice, and a second would be those who are impelled to leave. As a class, view Shaun Tan's, The Arrival (animation): https://vimeo.com/74292820. Discuss how Tan has captured the emotional dilemma of a refugee in a new country.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pros & Cons Diagram • Think- Pair- Share

	In pairs, have students respond to the image within the worksheet with words to describe the emotional impact of a refugee in a new country. On the right-hand side, students should list word to describe to ‘pros’ of migration, and to the left, the ‘cons’. Have students share their responses with another pair, and then with the class. Highlight the most consistent expressions/points that students identify for each. Have students access the Multicultural Snapshots Toolkit and Summit Isabel Zhang, and listen to her describe her decision to immigrate to Australia.
Presentation	Invite students to consider themselves as migrants or refugees. Have them develop a scenario outlining their decisions about what they would take with them, and what would they leave behind. Invite students to complete the Suitcase activity, My Suitcase... My Heritage. In their scenario, students should write about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Where are they coming from and going to? • Who are their family members accompanying them, or those left behind? • What keepsakes are they taking with them, what is left behind? • What is their hope for a new life, what is the life they are leaving? • Select a particular item that reflects their culture and identity and explain its significance. Students should access the Immigration Museum to view the objects selected by previous immigrants: https://museums victoria.com.au/learning/whats-your-story/objects-in-the-kit/ Display the students’ suitcases and invite particular students to talk about their stories and justify their choices.	My Suitcase... My Heritage
Reflection	Evaluate student knowledge by using Quizlet to generate multiple-choice questions about Chinese-Australian history, cultural artefacts and traditions. Have students review their previously completed graphic organiser, I See, I Think, I Wonder, and have them complete the I used to think – Now I think. They should reflect on what they now know about Chinese-Australian history, traditions and enterprise, and the importance of the Millennium Dragon to contemporary Chinese-Australians. They should also be able to identify Isabel Zang and her family in the second photograph on the ‘I See, I Think, I Wonder’ graphic organiser. Take students on an excursion to the Museum of Chinese Australian History, or a cultural museum in their town or region that features artefacts from Chinese culture. Direct students to further resources on this topic. See extensive list below.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Quizlet • I used to think – Now I think
